

Your next step

If your company uses transit packaging and you are considering implementing a re-turnable policy or perhaps reinforcing and improving an existing system, E.L.M. can help.

We have worked with many international multi-site companies to standardise transit packaging specifications within their businesses and thereafter implement economic RTP recovery programmes.

We will recommend the best specification of transit packaging for your requirements and design a logistics system that will ensure it is available when and where you need it.

Please contact our Business Development Manager for an initial meeting and a full presentation of our services. We will review your current RTP systems, packaging specifications, customers delivery profile etc. and work with you to design the best solution for the needs of your business.
